

0.1 Astra Quae Terram

A -stra quae ter-ram propri- o ma-dentem Sanguine exhorrens Phi-lume-na, scandis, Si qua te no- stri pi- e-tas, pre-cantum Annu- e vo- tis. Dum ti-bi do-nis cumu-la-ta centum A-ra vo-ti-va re-ca-let fa-vil-la, Virgi-nes cir- cum, pu- e-rique lae-to Carmi-ne plau-dunt.
 Te nec instan-tis ra-bi- es ty-ranni Mente de-je-cit so-li-da, imme-ren-ti Si-ve, ni Christo re-nu- as, mi-ne- tur Vincu-la col-lo. Si-ve plumba- tis la-ce-randa lo-ris Terga nu-da-rit, me-di- o-ve ca-sta Mis-si- li me- tam de-de-rit sa-git-tae Pecto-ra cir-co. Perstat in-sa-no ve-lut i-cta ponto Fluctu- um cau-tes ra-bi- em re-fringens Vis ti-bi haud im- par Philume-na, men s que Nesci- a fle-cti. U-ni-cum cae-lo pro-fi-tens to-nantem Barba-re col-lum subji-cis bi-penni; Ima despe- ctans, comi-tante scandis Si-de-ra sponso. Hic Pa-tri tri-nam, ge-ni-toque et almo Flami-ni laudem re-ci-nens be- a- ris; Subdi-tas has, tu, pla-ci-do tue- re Lumi-ne ter-ras. A- men.

From a Manual of the Archconfraternity of St. Philomena, quoted by ClemensRomanus on the Musica Sacra Forum back in 2013. Set to the tune of Virginis Proles from Peter Sandhofe's Nocturnale.